A litre (L) and a millilitre (ml) are two units for measuring capacity.

This bottle holds 1 litre of water.

A millilitre is about 4 drops of water.

Mr. Franklin filled a bucket with water to clean his floor. Does his bucket probably hold 9 litres or 9 millilitres of water?

____________________________________

A baker adds half of a teaspoon of vanilla to her cake recipe. Did she use 2 litres or 2 millilitres of vanilla?

____________________________________

Chris bought a cup of hot chocolate. Does his cup probably hold 400 litres or 400 millilitres of hot chocolate?

____________________________________

Kate bought juice for her friends to drink at her birthday party. Did she probably buy 5 litres of juice or 5 millilitres?

____________________________________

Tom has a large fish tank at home. Does his fish tank hold 100 litres or 100 millilitres?

____________________________________

Peter filled the bath with water to wash himself. Does the bath probably hold 150 litres or 150 millilitres of water?

____________________________________

"Litres and Millilitres"